REMARKS

Applicants hereby submit amendments to the specification and claims to further define the method and structure of applicants' invention. No new matter is introduced by way of this amendment. Specifically, support for the structure description and claims are found in, among other places, paragraphs [0019] and [0021] of the application as originally filed.

Applicants respectfully request entry and consideration of the amendments set forth herein before examination of the present case. Early and favorable acceptance of the application is respectfully requested. The Examiner is invited to telephone the undersigned with any questions or comments regarding this preliminary amendment or this application.

Dated this 1st day of June, 2004.

Respectfully submitted,
